2021 CPAA Annual Virtual Planning Conference

Take the Initiative! Exploring Innovations
& Resiliency in Community Planning

May 3 - 5, 2021

You can expect this year's conference to highlight a wide variety of examples that illustrate innovations and resiliency in community planning. We encourage elected officials, planners and administrators from municipalities and the private sector across Alberta to attend and participate in the virtual conference.

Education Session

CPAA is pleased to confirm BC Hughes Destination Development & Marketing will be joining us to speak to "Rural Destinations Do it Differently – 10 Steps to Becoming a Place People Want to Visit" for the Monday morning Education Session. A deep dive into why being different is your greatest asset.

Call for Sponsors

Sponsorship funding or in kind contributions are used to support conference activities.

Preliminary Conference Program

The theme was chosen as a means to celebrate those communities and groups that are taking a risk and trying something new. We will be presenting various case studies to inspire attendees and learning opportunities. CPAA strives to create a space for planners, administrators, elected officials and related community planning professionals to explore how planning can help influence, shape and enhance our communities and municipalities.
