Announcing CPAA's New Community Achievement Award

We think it's time to formally recognize the outstanding work and successes of our members with a new Community Achievement Award to be awarded annually.

Community Planning Association of Alberta members are focused on multiple ways of improving the quality of life in their local areas. Communities across Alberta have undertaken and are currently involved in a wide range of community-based projects to address community safety, health, local services and social and economic opportunities.

This award is intended to recognize, celebrate, and share the success and hard work of an individual, team, or organization whose creative ideas and work has positively contributed to community building and well being anywhere in Alberta.

The inaugural award winner will be formally announced and presented with a plaque recognizing their achievements at the May 2-4 CPAA 2022 Conference and will be featured in CPAA publications.

Nominators and winners must be CPAA members in good standing.

If you are interested in nominating a successful project or submitting a project you were involved in, click on the following documents for complete information and submission requirements:
